

Thought the cover of Obsession very clever but irritating It plugs relentlessly.

Same,

My dear Phyll,

26th Oct.

Well, I can't see any law against your having your Xmas present now. You can have a read of it now, then put it away & leave it be & at Xmas time pretend you never knew anything about it.

The Master asks me to thank you three very much for his birthday telegram. We both enjoyed getting it very much & he said to tell you how nice it was, on having reached the honourable & majestic age of 75. He had a quiet but I think very nice birthday Roast ducks with orange & coriander sauce-gravy - called Bigarade which always sounds a bit obscene to me. All the Cats gave him dried fruits & chocolates & I gave him a record & balls - no insult improved. very long view

Yes, I've fed Mrs Macgregor many notes on Linn & yesterday went into Lurnbull to get some dope on Wainui's settlement, so that photostat is on its way. We are calling in to meet her (to answer any more questions) on our way to Gisborne, at Waipawa.

Well, you can say that again. How A. would enjoy the questions (can't see that) he's triggered off. I feel he's much amongst it & would be happy ~~some~~ of us will visit not Liverpool St. again. I can see one facet of his hell very plainly.

No, my dream didn't have a marble wall. It was a MEDIEVAL stone wall. My writing is bad & no doubt it looked like marble.

Did enjoy your family photos - explaining & what you say is so absolutely true! 'Lis better to take the very long view both fore & aft & things get better into perspective. Thanks too for data on Sell's death. Yes, I can appreciate things would have passed thro a difficult period. I still can't see how it could have approached your perigalaxy. But at present "obsessions" are the in thing & it will take time for these to simmer down.

I should think the money business would be weighing heavily on both Mark & Wint. Money or the monetary value is NOT priority & naturally I should think there's worry afoot. It would go for Anne too because they all knew what Ally "meant". There's a hell of a lot they never knew about Ally & naturally don't give thought to things that you & I think a lot about. I should think A. would be well in position to do some spleen venting & its repercussions felt among us.

Oh well well see what goes.

Had another session on colour.
This time it was a very dark blood red. I relaxed deeply this time & could feel tingles in fingers. Was very tired after this go. I would love to know what it's all about.
Have you ever read anything about it.

If you've got nothing to do one day !!! ? !!! would you write me an epistle on Grace, like the one you did on Lina. blotches, character istics etc. & drawings please.

Well, I must wrap up "Obsessions" & go to post. I wondered if the 1st Chapter gave a line on the twitch that Roger has got.

Best love to all from us.
Luffy.
